Re: D'Olivet, LLC

Dear Mr. Ysursa:

I write as attorney for Debra McCarver, who was affiliated with D'Olivet, LLC. She was put on the Articles of Organization as the designated agent, which she is no longer. She has moved out of state. Moreover, she has attempted to withdraw from the limited liability company and has signed Articles of Amendment to that effect. We filed these latter documents today which were rejected as she did not show as a member.

We find this position to be potentially damaging to her, and protest this conclusion. If you examine the last annual statement which was filed by Ms. Weber, Mrs. McCarver was put on that form as a member. Ms. Weber also put herself on as designated agent at that time, which is correct. However, we consider her putting Mrs. McCarver's name on the annual report as a member to be a document which constitutes her as such a member, and therefore attempted to file the enclosed document to show that she is no longer a member. She has withdrawn from such firm.

We hereby tender such Amendment AGAIN to certify that Mrs. McCarver is NOT a member of the LLC. If you choose to reject this again, then I would appreciate your updating your records to show that she has withdrawn as a member and confirm such to me in writing.

Thank you.

Sincerely yours,

D. Blair Clark
