NARRATIVE

3/29/14

To whom it may concern,

I recently formed a Company named "Platinum Chariot, LLC", using Internet Forms. Apparently I misunderstood some of the instructions and made a mistake using the forms. It was, and is, intended that a friend of mine, Bryce Mendel, be an employee, and only an employee, of the Company. The confusion is that he signed one of the forms as though he was a part owner of the Company – which was and is not intended.

However, if there is still any concern over perceived ownership after this clarification letter, then any perceived interest in Platinum Chariot, LLC will be sold by Bryce Mendel to Dillon Nielsen for the sum of one dollar ($1.00).

Respectfully,

Dillon Nielsen

RECEIPT

I, Bryce Mendel, do not have, and never had, any financial interest in Platinum Chariots, LLC. However, if there is any way of construing Dillon Nielsen's and my relationship as other than employer/employee in this Company, then I sell the perceived interest to Dillon Nielsen.

I received one dollar ($1.00) from Dillon Nielsen, as payment in full, for any perceived interest in Platinum Chariot, LLC.

Bryce Mendel
