In pursuit of these purposes, the Corporation will have all the powers granted to it by law.

ARTICLE IV.

CAPITAL STOCK

4.01. The aggregate number of shares which the Corporation shall be authorized to issue shall be 50,000 shares. These shares are divided into the following classes:

(a) 10,000 shares of Class A common stock with a par value of $1.00 per share, designated as "Class A Common";

(b) 40,000 shares of Class B non-voting common stock of a par value of $1.00, designated as "Class B Non-Voting Common".

ARTICLE V.

PREFERENCES, LIMITATIONS, AND RELATIVE RIGHTS

The limitations and relative rights in respect to the shares of each class are as follows:

5.01. Class A Common Stock. The Class A common stock shall have the limitations and relative rights as hereinafter provided:

(a) Issuance. When payment for the consideration for which the shares are to be issued shall have been received by the corporation, such shares shall be deemed to be fully paid and the holder thereof shall not be liable for any call. The shares will then be non-assessable.

(b) Voting. The holders of the Class A common shares shall be entitled to elect the Board of Directors. Voting shall be on a one (1) vote per share basis.

In voting for the election of directors, cumulative voting is permitted, and each shareholder may accumulate his votes by giving one candidate as many votes as the number of such directors multiplied by the number of his shares shall equal, or by distributing such votes on the same principle among any number of such candidates.

5.02. Class B Common Stock. The Class B common shareholders shall have no voting rights. When payment for which the shares are to be issued shall have been received by the corporation, such shares shall be non-assessable and the holder thereof shall not be liable for any call.

5.03. Dividends. The record holders of the Class A and Class B common shares shall share equally in all dividends declared by the Board of Directors; provided always, the Board of Directors may elect in its discretion not to declare dividends. Dividends will not accumulate. The record of shareholders entitled to receive a dividend will be taken at the close of business on March 31, June 30, September 30 and December 31 (or if such date is not a business day, on the last prior business day).

5.04. Redemption. (a) The Class A and Class B common shares may be redeemed, in full or in part, either separately by class or on a prorata basis, at the option of the corporation, by vote of its Board of Directors, or by the operation of the sinking fund or redemption or purchase account, if any, provided for such stock, at any time, or from time to time, at a redemption price equal to the then fair market value of such shares in accordance with the provisions of this Section 5.04. If less than all of the outstanding shares of a class of stock are to be redeemed, the shares to be redeemed shall be determined in any such manner as the Board of Directors may prescribe. Nothing herein contained shall be deemed to limit or impair the right of the corporation to buy any shares of any class of stock at a price not exceeding the price which would be payable if such stock were then called for redemption.

(b) Notice. Notice of every redemption of stock shall be mailed by or on behalf of the corporation, addressed to the holders of record of the stock to be redeemed at their respective addresses as they shall appear on the records of the corporation, such mailing to be at least thirty (30) and not more than sixty (60) days prior to the date fixed for redemption.

(c) Agent. The corporation may select as its agent to redeem the stock so called for redemption a bank or trust company in good standing, organized under the laws of the United States of America or of any state having sufficient capital, surplus and undivided profits so as to assure eventual payment of the redemption proceeds to the underlying holders of the stock. Following such selection, the corporation may designate or appoint the bank so selected and deliver to it irrevocable written instructions authorizing such agent on behalf and at the expense of the corporation, to cause notice of redemption to be duly mailed and published as herein provided as soon as practicable after receipt of such irrevocable instructions and in accordance with the above provisions.

(d) Deposit of Funds. All funds necessary for the redemption shall be deposited in trust not less than two (2) business days before the date fixed for redemption with the bank or trust company so designated, for the prorata benefit of the holders of the shares so called for redemption, so as to be and to continue to be available therefore, and if notice of redemption shall have been duly given by mail and by publication then, on and after the date of redemption so designated, notwithstanding that any certificate for shares of stock so called for redemption shall not have been surrendered for cancellation, the shares represented thereby shall no longer be deemed outstanding, the dividends thereon shall cease, and all rights with respect to the shares of stock so called for redemption shall cease and terminate except the right to exercise on or before the date fixed for redemption privileges of conversion or exchange, if any, not theretofore expiring, or if not so converted to receive the redemption price (including accrued dividends to the redemption date), but without interest accruing on the redemption price or future dividends, of the shares so called for redemption.

(e) Reversion of Funds. Such deposit in trust shall be irrevocable except to the following extent: i.) any monies so deposited by the corporation which shall not be required for the redemption because of the exercise of any such right of conversion or exchange subsequent to the date of deposit shall be repaid to the corporation forthwith; ii.) any balance of money so deposited by the corporation and unclaimed by the shareholders entitled thereto at the expiration of two (2) years from the date fixed for redemption shall be repaid to the corporation upon its request for such funds expressed in a resolution of its Board of Directors, and after any such repayment the holders of the shares so called for redemption shall look only to the corporation for the payment of the redemption price.

(f) Notice of Adverse Claim. No payment will be made if there is any legend or notation on the certificate, representing the shares to be redeemed, evidencing any adverse claim or other interest of any other person; nor shall any payment be made if the bank or other trust company making such payment has notice of a claim or interest of any other person, unless and until that other person has disclaimed the same.

(g) Cancellation. When shares of a corporation are redeemed or purchased by the corporation, the redemption or purchase shall effect a cancellation of such shares, and such shares shall not be reissued.
