INSTRUCTIONS

Optional: If the document is incorrect where can you be reached for questions?

Note: Filing a Certificate of Assumed Business Name does not give a business any specific right to the use of the name on the Certificate. Before filing, it might prove useful to have the Secretary of State's Of search the records for names which are identical or deceptively similar. Another business might already be using the name you wish to file; in many cases this would be a reason to select another name. Please be aware that all filings with this office are public record and are available upon request and via the internet.

1. When required.

- Any person who proposes to or intends to transact business in Idaho under an assumed business name shall, before beginning to transact business, file with the Secretary of State a certificate of assumed business name.
- An entity which is organized, registered or admitted to the state by filing its organizational document or qualification papers with the Secretary of State is not required to file a Certificate of Assumed Business Name, except when it conducts business under a name other than its true name which appears on its organizational document or qualification papers. Formally organized or registered entities include corporations, limited liability companies, limited partnerships and limited liability
